Activity #1. Send me an email.

E-mail me from the email address you plan to use this semester. Put “email address” and your name in the Subject line. Tell me something about yourself that you didn’t mention in the student information sheet.

1 point. Final due day for points is Thursday 2/2/06

Activity #2. Assess your learning style and begin formulating a personal learning plan for the semester. Take the automatically-scored Learning Styles Assessment on the web at http://www.metamath.com//lsweb/dvclearn.htm. Look through the Study Tips web resources on our class Web Resources website page (at http://voyager.dvc.edu/~klong/120/web.htm). To get credit for this activity, turn in to me: the results from your Learning Style Assessment survey and a list of a few things you plan to do in this class to make your style work best for you.

1 point. Final day is Thursday 2/2/06

Activity #3. Study group meeting

Meet at least twice for at least 3/4 hour each outside class with a study group consisting of at least one other person in this class. Answer the following questions and discuss at least one homework problem or lab together each time. Turn in one written report of your answers to the questions for the group. Questions to answer:

1. List of study group members names and time and date you all met.
2. A time and day you could get together regularly for 3/4 hour or more with the study group outside of class to work on chemistry.
3. One thing each person has in common with at least one other person in the group.
4. At least one rule for working together in the group.
5. Which homework questions or labs did you work on together and discuss?

2 points. Must be completed by Tuesday 2/2/06

Activity #4. Peer pressure

If everyone in your study group turns in all the homework and worksheets up to the date of Exam 1 and loses no more than 1 point on each of the three Worksheets, everyone in the group gets 2 SDS points. You must identify your study group members to me by Wednesday 1/25/06.
